HOUSEHOLD HINTS

A neat little gift is a small crocheted slipper, with a chambray sole, in which a silver thimble is placed. Crochet the toe and sides with silk-teen. Two slippers can be made, tied with ribbon, and one stuffed with an emery bag. Each should be an inch long.

In stitching a pocket on the outside of a garment run the stitching half an inch above the edge of the pocket. This prevents the body of the garment from tearing, as is so often the case when the pocket is put on in the old way. When stitching around a cuff or wristband on the machine always turn the sleeve wrong side out, then set the presser foot inside the wristband.

Baby bibs are nice little things for gifts, and they may be the ordinary ones or the "feeding" variety, which cover the maker's desire. "Feeding" bibs measure ten by sixteen inches with a tiny curved piece cut from the top to fit around the neck. On the edges of this the tape is fastened. These are usually of huckaback toweling or linen, and may be embroidered with old-fashioned cross-stitch done with darning cotton, or else with regular D. M. C. embroidery cotton.

Happy is the woman who numbers among her possessions just now any such paint and curious bags as women carried in bygone days. Embroidery by skilled fingers in wonderful stitchery, some of their old colors blend charmingly with present-day dresses, and now is the time to get them out for the opportunity to use them may never occur again. It is a time when almost any of these old vanities—a scrap of old brocade, an old-fashioned jewel or an old buckle—may be made to do good service, and happy are they who possess them.

Something decidedly new for busy fingers is found in the art of palatography which will be a delightful pastime for girls or women who are not original enough to paint their own china. The articles come stamped, just as do dolls, and the operator has only to use her own judgment in color schemes which are applied along the delicate lines. The oriental markings are pretty and the colors are lasting, calling for no kiln to complete the work.

When material is to be cut away under lace use a piece of pastboard four inches long, rounded at one end, and cut wide enough to slip along between the lace and material. This will make the work easier and safer.

NEEDLEWORK NOTES

Bows of lace have a touch of colored embroidery.

A silk yoke will be used this winter on serge or half woollen dresses. Jot tassels are extremely fetching and gave a very pretty sparkle here and there on a gown of black tulle or satin.

The hems of sating gowns are faced up several inches with flannel, to give the limp, clinging effect around the feet.

If you would have a pretty kimono, make it of white crepe and trim the edges with plaited tulle or finely plaited bands of silk.

Mark sheets in one corner and pillow cases on the wrong side of the hem. Red filo silk is frequently used for marking bed linen, since it does not fade and is a thread well adapted for outline work.
